Dear Sirs:-

Some time ago I visited your museum. There was a very kind man in charge
who told me a great deal about coins and showed me many.
He suggested that I learn something about coins and then join the society, which if I remember correctly, he said cost five dollars and entitled me to a little magazine.

Since then I've been trying to learn a little about them.

Coins are so interesting and the books I get from the library here are stupendous. I thought if I could join your society now
perhaps it would help me
more than trying to learn things from these enormous and ancient books our library has.
They seem to have none as clear and concise as the ones I saw in your library.

Can you tell me what I would have to do to become a member?

Respectfully yours
(Miss) Mayorie Borton

Dear Miss Borton:

I have your letter of January 18th and I would be very glad to present your name at the next meeting of the Council if you can see your way clear to signing the enclosed application card.

I am very glad you find the subject of coins interesting and shall be only too glad to help you in any possible way.

Very truly yours,

Secretary

Dear Sir:—

I was pleased to receive your letter of February seventeenth.
I am enclosing a money-order for five dollars ($5.00) for my membership dues for the year 1921

I will certainly visit the museum next time I am in New York. Respectfully yours

My dear Mr. Hoe, —

Perhaps you will remember that I took the address of M. le Directeur des Monnaies, that I might send for two medals by Roty. I am inclosing the answer I recieved.

I don't quite understand how a ~~talk~~ could be so large as to more than double the price of the medal. However I would like very much to own an example of M. Roty's work and I think I like the "funeral of President Carnot" the best. At such a high price I can't afford to buy two. So I ask your advice. First to help me with my selection. I want a good example by the best French medalist. Of the prints sent, I admire "Redemption" by S. Dupré. The funeral medal is such a sad subject. Did Roty do another as lovely about something more cheerful? Anyway, I'm sure I can't afford more than one so I'll be delighted to have you tell me which will be the best representative of the best work.

Then - it is absolutely beyond me to figure out how much to send. I never dreamed how complicated ~~it~~ would be to buy something from another country. It sounded so easy when you told me about it. I'm afraid I'm more of a nuisance than anything but I would like that medal and will be mighty glad if you will help me get it.

Mr. Kohler wanted ($1.50 and $ 3 ⁰⁰) a dollar and a half and three dollars for those Scott catalogues. From what you said of them I concluded they weren't worth it and did not purchase them.

I enjoyed the book you loaned me very much and am returning it with the printed matter I received with my letter.

If you will return them to me after you have looked them over I will appreciate it. I am glad I can have the pictures of some of those lovely medals even though I can't afford the medals.

Sincerely
Mayorie Barton

Dear Miss Borton:

I have your letter of December 27th. When you take into consideration that the present rate of exchange is a little over 8 cents to the franc, you will see that even the doubling of the prices for the medals is not prohibitive. For example, the 32-franc medal would cost you in the neighbourhood of $2.50; and the cost of packing and sending it would make the total charge to you a little over $4.50.

There is a circular medal of Roti's which you may have seen here - it commemorates the founding of the French School at Athens, and I believe you would have a great deal of satisfaction from it. You might write to Mr. Wayte Raymond, 489 Park Avenue, New York, and ask if he has this medal, or for what price he could obtain it.

You were right about the Scott catalogues. They are not worth to you the price that is asked for them.

We received the book you returned, and I am and I am sending back the enclosures as well as the letter from the Director of the Mint.

With cordial greetings of the Season, I am

Very truly yours,
